

"I would consider K2 Audio as the elite, top-tier audio/multimedia design consultant."

WORSHIP EXPERIENCE

When it comes to designing technical systems for houses of worship, the resident knowledge and experience at K2 Audio is second to none. Our staff, with well over 150 years of collective design experience, includes some of the most well-recognized names in church sound.

Curt Taipale has been helping churches solve their audio problems, designing AV systems and acoustics and providing training for technical ministry teams since 1980. He is also the founder of the online resource ChurchSoundcheck.com, which brings together thousands of people in countries throughout the world to help each other achieve technical excellence in their local churches.

Ray Rayburn, FAES, is the author of Technologies for Worship Magazine's bi-weekly audio newsletter and was one of the authors of the latest revision of the Handbook for Sound Engineers.

Acoustician Eric Seifert, worked closely on the auditorium design, acoustics and integration of performance technologies for many of the largest ministries in the country, including Prestonwood Baptist Church and Potters House Ministries, both in Dallas, TX.
